

ANNUAL TWO-DAY MEETING 2027

21st – 22nd January 2027

The Eastside Rooms,
Woodcock St, Birmingham, B7 4BL

Join colleagues from across the UK for two days of innovation, collaboration, and practical discussion in ambulatory gynaecological care.

WHY ATTEND?

The BSGE Ambulatory Care Network meeting has become the UK's leading forum for clinicians delivering outpatient and ambulatory services for uterine and genital tract conditions.

As the network has grown, we are delighted that the 2027 meeting will be held at the Eastside Rooms, Birmingham, providing expanded conference facilities while retaining the highly interactive and collegiate atmosphere that has made previous meetings so successful.

The programme will focus on ambulatory approaches to the diagnosis and treatment of uterine and genital tract conditions, including:

- ★ Hysteroscopy
- ★ Ultrasound
- ★ Pharmaceutical therapies
- ★ Innovative technologies
- ★ Quality improvement and research
- ★ Service development and ambulatory procedures
- ★ Sharing ideas, innovations, and best practice

Rather than traditional didactic lectures, sessions will emphasise audience participation, discussion, debate, and the sharing of practical ideas, with individual presentations limited to 10 minutes to maximise interaction.

CALL FOR IDEAS AND SPEAKERS

We are currently finalising the programme and welcome suggestions for topics, discussions, and practical sessions relevant to day-to-day ambulatory practice.

If you would like to contribute, speak or lead a session, please email bsgeacn@gmail.com

BOOK YOUR STUDY LEAVE EARLY

The meeting is being held slightly earlier than our usual February date in order to retain the preferred Thursday-Friday format and February half-term recess.
